GUNMEN HOLD UP AND ROB MAN ON VAUGHAN ST.

Highwaymen Get $80.00---One Arrest
Made Later in the Night---Victim
Identifies Man With Gun.

A bold job of highway robbery was committed on Vaughan street on Wednesday night between Deer street and the railroad crossing. The victim is a young man named Frank Pehont of 42 Billerica street, Boston. He was a passenger on the Bar Harbor Express due at 11.35 and being a stranger he passed along by the water tank to the Vaughan street crossing where he asked the engineer of the train the way to the business section of the city. The engineer directed him down Vaughan street. He had hardly gone 50 feet when two men with coat collars turned up and caps pulled over their eyes, reached out from behind a fence and grabbing the young man pulled him into an alley. The gun was placed against his breast and he was ordered to throw up his hands. While the gunman covered him with the revolver, the other one searched his pockets and took $80.

They then ran in the direction of the depot while Pehont hunted up the police. He ran into Officers Kelly and Ellingwood and described the man man with the gun. At 11.20 the officers arrested Frank McKenna in one of the

RAILROADMEN WALK OUT IN CALGARY

(By Associated Press)
Winnipeg, May 29.—The strike situation remains unchanged here. A story is in circulation that the strikers will make public a new plan for settling the strike.

Calgary, Alberta, May 29.—The Brotherhood of Railroad Workers including clerks, freight handlers, and baggage men voted to walk out today in sympathy with the general strikers. The telephone, telegraph and commercial telegraphers voted not to join the strike.

MARBLEHEAD HAS ELEPHANT HUNT IN WOODS

(By Associated Press)
Marblehead, Mass., May 29.—An elephant hunt occupied the police and many of the citizens here this morning. Four of the big animals escaped from a circus that showed here last night. They wandered into the woods toward the Salem shore way and were enticed out of the woods and to the cars by peanuts and bananas. The circus is showing in Peabody today.

(By Associated Press)
Paris, May 29.—When the members of the peace conference met in Plenary session this afternoon to hear the Austrian peace terms read, they were informed that the terms were not completed.

It was decided to postpone the meeting until Saturday. It was reported that the terms would be presented to Austria on Monday. The postponement, however, is reported, to a request from the smaller powers, particularly the Balkan states, that they be allowed more time to consider the articles of peace.

Germany today made formal reply to the peace terms submitted to her by the Allied governments on May 7th. The German delegates take issue of all important phases of the treaty.

This afternoon a plenary session of the peace conference will commence on the terms of the Austrian peace treaty to the powers that broke off

MUST HAVE MONEY TO FIGHT THE EPIDEMIC AND DISEASE IN SERBIA

If you could send a doctor to 21,000 people who are dying from disease and starvation, would you do it?

In America we have one doctor to 1000 people. Serbia has only 150 doctors to three millions of people, reduced physically and mentally by war famine and plague.

American women came to the aid of Serbia and the near east by establishing a hospital at Vudena on the Serbia border early in 1916. With the release of Serbia from the enemy a hospital was established at Monastir. Now there are 16 hospitals under American control. Serbia's condition is pitiable. Men are dying in thousands, not through being wounded in battle though they have been fighting for six years, but from sheer hunger and pestilence—smallpox and pestilence and flu are raging.

The government has asked the American Women's Hospitals for

WILL GIVE HUNS THREE DAYS' NOTICE

London, May 29.—Immediately after a failure of the Germans to sign the treaty, Germany will be given 72 hours' notice of the termination of the armistice. On the expiration of this period the British, French and American will advance into Germany. Simultaneously the blockade will be enforced as tightly as possible.

The Allied Blockade Council at Paris has completed all arrangements for the blockade. Plans have been worked out for the fullest co-operation between the military and economic forces.

All the arrangements perfected during the war to protect as far as possible the interests of neutral nations, while preventing the entry of food or raw material into Germany, will again be brought into play, and Germany will find herself absolutely cut off from the rest of the world.

KITTERY POINT

Kittery Point, May 29.—The funeral services of Joel Norton took place from the First Christian church of which he was a member, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Winifred T. Coffin, a former pastor of the church. "Jesus Lover of My Soul," "Home of the Soul," and "Shall We Meet Beyond the River" were sweetly sung by Mrs. Justin Sawyer and Mrs. W. B. Emory. Interment took place in the church cemetery. The deceased passed away at the Portsmouth hospital on Sunday afternoon, following a surgical operation.

Mr. Norton had been in robust health until a few weeks ago, his death coming as a shock to his many friends. He was a man of sterling worth, and always lived an honest, upright life. He will be sadly missed by neighbors and friends. He was 77 years of age and leaves a wife, Mrs. Carrie Norton, and a granddaughter, Miss Grace Norton of Boston.

A Victory orchard was planted at the parsonage of the First Christian church on Monday evening, May 20, in honor of a number of young men who have been in the service and also they were the former Sunday school class of Mrs. Charles Sawyer of the First Christian church. The young men purchased the fruit trees, prepared the ground and planted them. A large number of these young men have been active services and gone through many hardships while overseas, and it is quite remarkable to think they have all returned safely to their home town. They were regular attendants at the Sunday school and many they long remember the Christian influence of their former Sunday school teacher. Following are the names: Leon Coffin, Charles Williams, Willie Seaward, Harold Wilson, Jasper Moulton, Chester Moulton, Charles Lewis, Fred Billings, Ezra Sawyer, Roland Redell, Guy Mitchell, Clarence Amee, John Tobey, Ralph Fletcher, Ralph Baker, Louis Anderson, Benjamin Seaward, Samuel Deane, John Nolan, Harry Nolan.

Corporal Fred Billings, who has recently returned from overseas and has been passing a few days with his parents, has returned to his former position at the Charlestown navy yard.

Mrs. Ellen Billings left on Thursday, with friends from Portland, for Alton Bay to pass the holiday and week end, making the trip by auto.

Mrs. Mildred Hardy and son Robert of Dover, N. H., is spending a few days with Mrs. Morton Seaward.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Riley of Haverhill, N. H., announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret J. Riley of Champernowne hotel, Kittery Point, to Forrest J. Hurley of Denver, Col., and who is stationed on the U. S. S. Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Sarah Houghkins and Mr. Jesse Wetherell of Newburyport, Mass., are visiting Mrs. Justin Sawyer.

WARNS OF DANGER IN SHAVING BRUSHES

The Health Commissioner issued yesterday the following bulletin regarding shaving brushes and antirax: "The Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service calls attention to the continued occurrence of cases of antirax due to infected shaving brushes, and states that there are still undoubtedly in trade channels shaving brushes made from material contaminated with antirax."

The Surgeon General recommends that any brushes found in the market which do not bear the name or the trade mark of the manufacturer be regarded with suspicion and be returned to the source from which they were obtained, or else that they be disinfected. For disinfection the Surgeon General recommends the following procedure:

The brush should be soaked for four hours in a 10 percent solution of formalin (by formalin is meant a 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde). The solution should be kept at a temperature of 110 degrees Fahrenheit, and brush so agitated as to bring the solution into contact with all hairs and bristles.

MACMILLAN SAYS PLANE WILL NOT DO

Portland, May 29.—A trip to the North Pole by airplane would be impracticable, in the opinion of Donald J. Macmillan of Freeport, the Arctic explorer and leader of the Crocker-Land expedition, who recently returned from Europe, where he served with the American air forces. Such a trip could be made by dirigible, he said yesterday, but the cost of the expedition would be about $1,000,000.

"I plan to go up north again some time to continue explorations," Professor Macmillan said, "but I assure you, knowing what I do of the air machine as it is today, that I shall continue to depend upon the over-faithful dogs of Greenland to take me to the points I desire to visit."

There are many reasons why an airplane could not be used successfully, he said, chief of which would be the difficulty of landing. There are no stretches of smooth ice and a plane would be smashed in attempting to land on the ice and snow.

"I do believe that with a properly equipped hangar in Labrador for headquarters," he said, "a trip by dirigible could be made successfully if properly arranged. A considerable number of people and sufficient supplies could be taken along."

GAS MASKS TO BE AUCTIONED

Camp Devens, May 28—Gas masks may be all the rage soon. The government is going to sell them—million 'em off right here in camp to the highest bidders.

Seven thousand honest-to-goodness masks, the same as the YD boys wore "over there," will be sold—banded right out with all the trimmings, goggles and everything.

Just how they are to be used in peace time pursuits is unknown. Perhaps ingenious milliners will buy 'em right up quick and begin putting out gas mask hats for "flappers" or may be novelty dealers will attempt selling 'em to fair ladies to replace neckties.

Anyway, brisk bidding is expected from the juvenile "hotshots" and because of this Captain B. C. Edwards, salvage officer, is sending notice of what attractive memorials the masks will make.

"Perhaps," he writes, "a gas mask saved the life of your boy."

Sales will be held from 1 to 4 o'clock, afternoons, starting June 9, and ending June 20.

The Remedy in Their Own Hands.

There was considerable complaint from farmers last year about the daylight-saving scheme and similar complaints are heard this year. These complaints are based on the ground that farmers are compelled to begin their work an hour earlier in the morning than they would under standard time and quit an hour earlier in the afternoon, in cases where hired help is employed. They argue, and correctly, that heavy dew delay work in the morning, especially during the haying and harvesting season, and that the farmers are robbed of an hour of the best part of the day in the afternoon, and there is much of truth in this condition, as must be realized by all familiar with farm work. Only a few days ago a Grange at Concord adopted a resolution urging New Hampshire members of Congress to work for the repeal of the daylight-saving law, which the members consider wholly disadvantageous to the interests of agriculture in the state and the country. And it is known that many farmers in all parts of the country feel the same way regarding this matter.

But the manufacturing and commercial interests like the change and there is consequently little reason to look for the repeal of the law, at least for the present. After the novelty has worn off the country is liable to swing back to standard time. The people of this country are very fond of change and "something new," and it is quite possible that after a few years of daylight-saving arguments will be found in favor of letting the clocks alone.

But if the present scheme is so disadvantageous to the farmers it would seem that they have the remedy largely in their own hands. It is a remedy that many farmers have applied with results entirely satisfactory to themselves. When the time comes for setting the clocks ahead they simply let their clocks alone and proceed to do business on a time schedule that means noon when the sun casts a shadow due north. They get up on the old time, work on the old time and go to bed on the old time. By this means they are able to exchange an hour in the morning that is worth but little except for choring for one of the best hours of the day in the afternoon, and, as a rule, they have no trouble in inducing the hired men to assist to the program.

As stated, many farmers have done and are doing this. They realize that if they are going to town on business or going to take a train they must bear in mind the change brought about by daylight-saving and govern themselves accordingly, this being the only inconvenience to which they are subjected. The animals are fed and the cows are milked on a schedule that is in vogue the year round, and no time is wasted or energy expended in trying to secure a repeal of the law.

On the whole, this seems like a sensible course for farmers who feel that the daylight-saving scheme is not to their advantage. It is a case in which every farmer has a right to decide for himself, to exercise "individual liberty" to his heart's content. This being so, agitation for the repeal of the law would hardly seem worth while.

It is well that steps are being taken to provide a suitable memorial to the men from Portsmouth and vicinity who served in the late war. Similar action is being taken in all parts of the country, as is eminently proper. The work these men did will never be forgotten, and the men themselves must not be forgotten by the generations yet to be.

The American Newspaper Publishers' Association stands on solid ground when it calls on Congress to repeal the law increasing the postage on newspapers, "as well as to increase the present inadequate facilities for handling newspapers." There has been some improvement, but there is room for more.

The herring fishermen have been having good luck lately off the Isles of Shoals in spite of rough weather that occasionally drove them into Portsmouth harbor. It is pleasing to know that the fishermen are doing well, even though the price of fish doesn't come down in proportion to the size of the catches.

It is said that Germany's share of the burdens growing out of the war is to be based on her ability to shoulder it, and not according to her deserts. It sometimes seems to the people of the United States that the prices of commodities here are similarly based.

It would seem as if burglars would give Kittery a wide berth after reading of the recent happenings there. The residents will have to establish a countersign if shooting is to be as promiscuous as a recent report would indicate.

The rush for houses and cottages along the coast substantiates the prediction made in this paper some time ago that this is to be the best summer resort season New Hampshire has experienced in years.

far as I have been able to learn, no valid objection has been raised against it, but it has brought much benefit to the large majority of people particularly those of the laboring classes whose daylight recreation hours are at best all too short. The daylight saving plan may be a slight inconvenience to a few, but on the other hand its repeal is certain to work irreparable loss to many millions who need the benefits of daylight saving the most. I urge you to use your good offices in preventing its repeal.

"The Heart of Humanity" is not a war film but a huge human document with the war as a background.

This description of Allen Holubar's newest multiple-reel film, the picture that has given Dorothy Phillips the opportunity of her career for superb acting—an opportunity of which she has made the most—is that of Mr. Holubar himself.

Mr. Holubar objects to having his production, which indubitably expresses the greatest work this master-entertainment-dramatist has yet achieved, chased with other war spectacles. It is his contention that "The Heart of Humanity," which soon will present to the world what probably will prove the most poignant tale yet pictorial-

NAVY YARD NOTES

Want Games Saturdays.

The Portsmouth Navy Yard ball team is out for games with any semi-professional team, on Saturdays after June 21.

Comdr. Almy Says Good Bye.

Comdr. Almy, who was placed on the inactive list recently, was about the yard on Tuesday bidding good bye to the officers and civilians as well. He left today for Brookline and later will go to Washington.

Pay Director Transferred

Capt. J. E. Carpenter, pay director at the Charlestown navy yard, will shortly be relieved from duty there and will succeed Commander Higgins in the First Naval District, the latter having been transferred to the War College.

Accounting Section to Work

The accounting section of the Industrial Department will be the only branch of that department to work on Saturday. This is made necessary by the change in date of paying the yard employees this week.

Looks Very Good

The total fund for the Salvation Army from the yard may be known Monday and it looks at present as if the quota would be exceeded by $1,000 or more.

Calls From Southern Yard

The Charlestown, S. C. navy yard is hunting for 160 men of the following trades: 2 butlers, 4 cooks, wood; 1 chipper and callier, 4 electricians, radio; 3 firemen, locomotive; 107 machinists, 2 joiners, 1 pipefitter, 3 sailmakers, 16 sheet metal workers, 2 steel workers, 3 shipwrights, 10 shipfitters, 2 toolmakers.

The Norfolk yard also sends out a call for the following: 1 boatbuilder, 30 boilermakers, chippers and callers; pneumatic; cooperages, millers, pneumatic; laborers, machinists, riveters, pneumatic; sheet metal workers, shipfitters.

Mostly Helpers

Twenty-five general helpers, two painters and two laborers were in the call made by the Industrial Department today.

Finds the Ship Gone

Chief Gunner's Mate Trivet reported at the yard today for duty on the hospital ship Comfort only to find the ship was at New York where he was later sent by the commander of the receiving ship Southern.

Six Go to Submarine

A quartermaster, gunner's mate, engine man, electrician, machinist's mate and one seaman of the crew of the U. S. S. Dumbo were held at the local yard where they will be transferred on Saturday to the submarine S-3 on her arrival from Providence.

EXPERIMENTING ON NEW MACHINE GUN.

Washington, May 29.—The war department is now trying to develop a 50-caliber machine gun. The motive is the belief of the general staff that experience on the western front in Europe indicated the need for a gun of larger calibre than the standard 30-caliber weapon for use either from planes or on the ground, against armored planes and tanks.

The Browning machine gun was being redesigned to meet such requirements and a sample gun had been constructed at the time the armistice was signed. The design of the ammunition for this gun, which presented something of a problem, also preceded at the same time. Designing of both gun and ammunition are still being perfected. This new type of machine gun is declared by army officials to be supplementary, in others, and its adoption, it is asserted, will not diminish in any way the value of the accumulated stocks now on hand.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE ON MEMORIAL DAY

(By Associated Press)
The cable speech of President Wilson was received and given out for publication today and his words to the people of the United States in part, follow:

My fellow countrymen:
Memorial day this year carries with it an added significance and impels me to wish that I might share with you its observance.

It commemorates not only the liberation of our own country and the redemption of the United States but the liberation of the world from a serious menace to free countries and free men. We have buried the gallant and immortal men who died with a new sense of consecration and patriotism.

We should turn our thoughts to the consecration of the liberty and life that they died to maintain in the world. They came to the field of battle with the high spirit of a nation's heroes. We must never forget the duties that are laid on us by their sacrifice and it is our sacred duty to maintain that which they fought for. We must fulfill their hopes.

This seems to me the impressive and inspiring mandate of the day.

The stockholders of the Northern Railroad hold their meeting at Concord today.

The second advertising car of Sells Photo Circus has arrived in the local yard of the Boston and Maine to complete the bill posting of the show which appears on June 6.

All shipyard and navy yard trains to the Shattuck, Atlantic and navy yard will be cancelled for Friday and Saturday.

A lady on the train from Woburn lost her purse and other property from that train a half mile east of Kittery Junction on Wednesday morning. The agent at that station was notified when the train reached Portsmouth and one of the station employees sent out to look up the lost articles, which he found on the roadside.

The crew of bridge carpenters are engaged in driving many new piles on the railroad section of the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge on the Maine side of the river.

The automatic crossing lights at Fernald's Crossing east of Kittery Junction have been accepted and put in operation causing the service of a flagman there to be discontinued.

AT HIGH SCHOOL

Patriotic Exercises Held;
Pupils Hear Able Speakers

Exercises appropriate for the Memorial Day season were held at High School hall at eleven o'clock this morning. The pupils gathered in Assembly Hall for this occasion.

Judge Edward H. Adams gave an able address on "The Significance of Memorial Day."

He said in part:

"Today every garden in the Nation is growing flowers for the soldiers and sailors graves. Those pure symbols of peace and love will celebrate the heroism and sacrifice of war. It is a tribute, when comrades living join in song and scatter flowers where comrades have long been laid away."

"But these are all our graves, heroism's graves, patriotism's graves, the nation's graves, God's graves. Over them shall keep watch the devoted women and the brave men, the lilies and the golden rod, the great trees and the shining stars, the strong angels and the good God. Hallowed forever be the day which the Nation is consecrated to the memory of the soldiers and sailors dead."

"There are times in the history of individuals and of nations when they stand at the border that separates mortals from immortals, time from eternity and men from God, that they can almost hear the throbbings and the pulsations of the heart of the universe. Through just such a period has this Nation recently passed. When those youthful heroic spirits passed from fields of honor across that border into the presence of Almighty God and to the company of those heroic men of the Republic, this Nation stood at that border, that the whispers of God could be heard by the children of men. Standing in that great presence with reverent reverence the American people made solemn covenant with him and with each other, that this Nation and other Nations should be saved from their enemies, that all their former glories should be restored, that upon the ruins of slavery and oppression and treachery, there should be erected temples of freedom and justice and truth, and there they should remain forever. Hence, eternal honor to the soldiers and sailors dead and the soldiers and sailors living, who saved the Nation, who emancipated Cuba, who made 'the world safe for democracy.'"

Joseph S. Doolittle, chaplain and patriotic instructor of Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., also gave a timely address, and paid a beautiful tribute to those of the World War who had made the supreme sacrifice. He also read a poem entitled, "We Shall Remember Them," by James T. White.

Conrad Doolittle takes deep interest in the Memorial Day exercises and for years has been one of the local Civil War veterans to speak at patriotic gatherings at the Memorial Day season. In the past week he has spoken before more than 2000 people, but having passed his eighty-fifth year, he finds it takes his strength not a little and feels that this is the last year he can speak at public gatherings although filled with the same loyalty and ardor as a speaker with recent regret. At the exercises at the high school this forenoon he spoke in part as follows:

"Once more we meet to honor the memory of those whose lives were consecrated to a holy cause. Today our rapidly thinning ranks remind us that soon the Grand Army of the Republic will have ceased to exist—but the memory of their sacrifices and heroic deeds will never, never die. They do not die who live in hearts that love. To the few remaining members of the Grand Army, the deeds of the American soldier of the world war are a source of pride far beyond the power of speech to express. It is saying nothing derogatory of the war-worn armies of Europe to claim that the deciding factor in the strife was the American army. Many of these men were the descendants of those who wore the blue and the grey in the crucial days of the Civil War, and this union of endeavor shall serve to still further cement the ties so nearly severed in those strenuous years—ties that now shall unite us not only in name, but also in the bonds of fraternity that shall endure beyond the bounds of time, through the endless ages of eternity."

Pardon me if I have seemed to lose sight of what Memorial week means to us survivors of a war fought for the same principles that impelled the men of today to die, and if need be to die, that those great truths should never perish. The years are few that remain or the G. A. R. yet while it does exist it will be no more proud of its own achievements than it will be of those men of the World War, who fought to make a whole world free. You would not think my work today complete did I not speak of the noble work that was done by the women of the Civil War. They were just as self-sacrificing as have been the women of the World War. The heroic deeds that were done and the sacrifices made by these noble

Charles O. Hill, age 7 years, son of Roy Hill of Eliot, was fatally injured by a motor truck on Wednesday forenoon dying at the Portsmouth Hospital some hours later.

The lad was playing about a truck owned by Norman Raffi, and the owner of the truck when he started up did not see the child who was on behind and in backing up the lad was crushed.

Dr. Durgin was called and brought the child to the Portsmouth hospital where he lived only a short time. As far as can be learned it was an accident in which the driver was not to blame. The lad's mother is dead.

The first golf tournament of the season will be played on Memorial Day at the Portsmouth Country Club. It will be a handicap sweepstakes and last year's handicaps will be used with some changes.

The course is in excellent condition and the putting greens the best for some years. There is a big interest in golf this year and already there has been more golf played than for several years at this time. Good field is expected for Memorial Day.

The Club will play a team match with the Dord Newbury Golf Club at Newbury on Saturday, June 7th.

HIGH SCHOOL JUNIORS PRESENT CLASS PLAY

The Varsity Coach, a play in four acts, was given by the Junior Class of the High School on Wednesday evening to a large and greatly delighted audience. The play was very well presented, the characters being well drawn and they injected into the play several good jokes. They made a hit with their references to the class day banners, and did not spare the seniors in their failure to get up their banners, after the Juniors had scored on them.

The student play club gave a concert, and materially added to the evening's entertainment. All of the students carried out their parts in the play in a manner which delighted the parents and friends and they have been well rewarded.

BEE SWARMING ON STATE STREET

A swarm of bees on State street shortly before one o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, caused some little excitement in that neighborhood. They first appeared on the limb of a tree near the Hitchins house and there was a great number of them. Everybody gave them a wild berth and finally they left the tree in the street and swarmed on an apple tree in the rear of the Hitchins house, where they remained during the afternoon. It is supposed they escaped from some hive but the owner had not put in an appearance.

STORER RELIEF CORPS TO SEND FLOWERS TO NAVAL HOSPITAL

Storer Relief Corps held its regular meeting Wednesday evening in G. A. R. hall with a good attendance. The senior vice president, Maude Smith, presided in the absence of the president. A report of the Relief Corps district drive was given and was most satisfactory. It was voted to bring flowers as a memorial tribute and send these flowers on some day soon, to the sick and wounded at the naval hospital, this to be done instead of buying plants to decorate the graves of members on Memorial day.

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES AT RYE TOWN HALL

Comrade Joseph S. Doolittle, of Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., Judge Edward H. Adams, son of a Civil War veteran, and a loyal friend of the G. A. R., and City Solicitor Jeremy R. Walden, a veteran of the World War, were the speakers at a patriotic gathering appropriate for the Memorial Day season, held in Rye Town hall on Tuesday evening. The school children of Rye took part in the program, giving patriotic exercises and reciting appropriate songs. The address was filled with the spirit of patriotism and a tribute was paid to the men of the Civil war and World war, who made the great sacrifice. The hall was well filled with the townspeople who listened with interest to the program.

"Girls House," the home of the Boston girls employed at the Atlantic Corporation, the feature being a May party carried out in real Massachusetts fashion, including decorations and the procession in hats and dresses of May paper. The favors of horns, flags and novelties lent tone to the decorations.

The musical program was much enjoyed. Piano solos were rendered by the Misses Esther Stevenson, Florence Shuttleworth, Messrs. Flowers, Sullivan and Carroll. Vocal selections by Miss Grace Butterworth, Arthur and Dewey Quinn. Humorous sketch by Messrs. Powers and Bride.

Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Demonstrations of the newest steps were given by Dewey Quinn and Grace Butterworth. Step dancing by William Poole and Mr. Eagon.

The hostesses of the evening were Margaret Donahue, Edna Davis, Alice Darling, Helen Deane, Esther Stevenson, Grace Butterworth and Alma Bourque assisted by their Matron Mrs. Thornton.

OLD FRIENDS.

The Bonette Brothers, who are doing the free acts here with the Metal Trades Council carnival, are the well known aeromants who have made thousands of balloon ascensions all over the United States and Canada during the past 25 years. C. C. Bonette is the originator of the double whirling slide for life net that he performs twice daily on the carnival lot. They have a great comedy double trapeze act that keeps the crowds roaring at every performance. These two acts are standard high class features and should be seen by everyone. They will remain with the Metal Trades Council carnival until Aug. 15 when their balloon season opens and will be at the big fairs through the New England states until October when they will go South for the winter.
